PREFACE

Mr. Harmon A. Chambers, of Philadelphia, was, for a great number of years, a very ardent collector of Paper Money in every form, amassing in his lifetime of some eighty years, a marvelous collection, the largest ever formed.

It is offered in the following pages in its entirety and I have endeavored to accurately describe the various items, following the plan of keeping the notes of each State together. That collectors might be informed as to the contents of the several lots, have itemized first the bank, then the date and denomination, so that intending purchasers may have some idea as to the contents of the lot and can use the catalogue as a check list. While this plan has led to great expense on my part, yet I have been mindful of the fact that we are here dispersing a collection the like of which will probably never again be formed and in succeeding years it will be desirable to know what such a collection contained. I have therefore eliminated the question of profit to myself and after a long period of work on the catalogue hope that my efforts will be appreciated by collectors and that this most interesting branch of our United States History will receive their support by liberal bids.

Each lot will be sold as catalogued. No lot will be separated. Each lot will be sold at so much per piece, and in making bids, I desire that collectors will take note of all these facts and bid accordingly. Carefully revise bids before sending in, that no mistakes may occur.

Where a note is palpably a counterfeit of the time, I have so stated, but as it is impossible to be informed as to what notes are counterfeits and what are not to any degree of accuracy, I do not hold myself responsible and any lot that may contain a note that is a counterfeit will not be returnable on this account.

The notes in the original lots are all different. Duplicates are placed in lots at the end of each State and so designated. Pr. means proof which are always unsigned and very frequently perforated where the signature should be.

I also desire to draw collectors' attention to the fact that Mr. Chambers was collecting constantly and always improved his own collection where possible, so that the note represented as his best note in his own private collection, it can be taken for granted, is as good as could be obtained and is probably much above the average.
